

ELLYSON AND MACHEN BOTH CLAIM VICTORY

Machen, Passing Through City, Says Everything Is Going His Way, While Ellyson Declares He Will Certainly Be Elected When the Vote Is Counted on August 5.

Former State Senator Lewis H. Machen passed through Richmond yesterday on his way to Alexandria. When seen by a reporter for The Times-Dispatch last evening, he said: "I have spent a week campaigning in Tidewater Virginia, and unless all signs fail I should carry that section heavily. I stopped over here on my way home, among other things to pay my respects to Lieutenant-Governor Ellyson, with whom my relations have always been most agreeable. We exchanged some pleasant conversation, but I am mistaken in claiming that I would carry eight out of the ten congressional districts. I hope I am. I would much prefer to carry ten, or even nine.

Claims Everything.
By the way, Mr. Ellyson has had more experience making claims than I have had, but since he has found out my mistake, I will follow the course usually pursued by the chairman and claim everything in sight. The truth is that this is a campaign in which there is a large element of bluff. Mr. Ellyson may be confident that he will carry the district that he should have a third term as Lieutenant-Governor, while I may consider that it does not.

"I haven't made many speeches during this campaign, but I have been posing on public questions has been very often expressed. However, I expect soon to publish a condensed statement of my views upon taxation, primary elections, the liquor question, roads, schools and other issues. Up to this time I have been busy trying to make a State-wide campaign in person, conduct a correspondence bureau, practice law, and edit a daily paper all at the same time. Naturally, I have been pretty steadily employed."

NAP PROVES COSTLY

Negro Awakened and Finds $52 He Had Left in His Hat Gone.
With $52, three ten-dollar notes, four five-dollar notes and two one-dollar notes, neatly tucked in the band of his hat, which he had placed at his feet, Richard Carter, colored, of 414 North Twelfth Street, went to sleep in the shade under a big tree at Fifth and Leigh Streets yesterday afternoon. When he awoke sometime later his hat was where he had placed it, but he found his cash gone.

Carter, who is employed by a railroad, hurried to the First Police Station to complain of his loss, but he was unable to furnish any information which might lead to the arrest of the thief. The negro said the money represented a month's work. He was certain of the amount, saying he had counted it carefully before falling asleep.

PRICELESS ART GEM FINALLY RECOVERED

Long Hunt for Famous Piece of Sculpture Ends in Baltimore.

Baltimore, July 22.—A piece of Greek sculpture, the female child of about five years of age, stolen from the National Museum at Athens fifteen years ago, and said to be of priceless value and 3,000 years old, was recovered by the local police to-day. The statue was dug up in the cellar of Charles Nemphos, a Greek confectioner, at Hampden, a suburb.

Search for the bust was instituted here following the arrest of Dr. Alexandre Vouras, the Greek charge at Washington. Dr. Vouras came here with several documents and went to the office of Attorney John Philip Hill. Dr. Vouras was unfolded the story of the disappearance of this gem of Grecian art, of the efforts of European governments to recover it for the past decade and of clues involving Baltimore.

Major Hill decided that it was not a case of smuggling, but a problem for the local police. Accordingly, the case was laid before the State's attorney, and on the basis of information furnished by the Greek diplomat, a search warrant for Nemphos's home was issued.

It was only after Nemphos had been subjected to a "third degree" quiz by the detectives lasting all night that he finally broke down and pointed out the spot where the bust was buried. Under his direction the officers began digging and after about an hour and three feet unearthed the head of the figure broken off at the shoulders. A few more handfuls of earth were upturned and the bust was revealed.

"That's all," cried Nemphos, with an audible sigh of relief. "I'm glad you got it."

The relic was taken charge of by the police and Nemphos was locked up on the technical charge of having stolen goods. According to Nemphos he came into possession of the figure ten or eleven years ago. He obtained it, he said, from a fellow countryman he had employed, and to whom he had paid money, taking the bust as security. This man said it came from Athens and "was worth much money." Nemphos

As he stated when he called on Gray at the drug store, "If it was cooler weather I might have submitted to the operation, but I thought I would try the Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm, and I am very thankful I did so, for after being laid up for weeks, I could not take out my run; I got one bottle of the Quaker Herb Extract, took it three days, according to directions, went to work, made my

COUNTY JAIL FOR YOUNG BOY RIDER

Walter Ware, Member of Gang That Beat Up Officer Bendall, Convicted of Auto Theft.

Walter Ware, colored, sixteen years old, one of the three brothers implicated in an assault on County Officer R. E. Bendall, of Henrico, was fined $10 and given six months in the County Jail yesterday when arraigned before Magistrate T. J. Puryear on a charge of stealing an automobile from William Todd, of Westhampton. Through his attorney, Giles B. Jackson, Ware noted an appeal to Henrico Circuit Court, and pending the rehearing was admitted to bail in the sum of $200 with his father, Robert Ware, as surety.

Ware and his two brothers were accused of taking the automobile for a "joy ride," and were later arrested on the charge. While standing on Robinson Street, in the city limits, waiting for a car, one of the negroes struck Officer Bendall over the head with a rock and the trio escaped. Mr. Bendall sustained a fractured skull, and although the assault was made more than two months ago, he is still unfit for duty.

The elder Ware brothers are still at large. Walter became separated from them, and after two days hiding from the county police, crawled to the Todd home at Westhampton and surrendered. Mr. Todd, who denied having assisted in the attack on Officer Bendall, and was later dismissed when tried on the charge in Police Court.

No trace of the Wares has been found since their dramatic chase across the county. Several reports of them being in hiding in different sections have been investigated, but proved to be unfounded. The county authorities are satisfied that the brothers will venture home, and will be captured eventually. A reward for their arrest has been offered.

BOARD CROSSES RUBICON

Makes First Official Trip Over New Mayo Bridge.

The Administrative Board, accompanied by the City Engineer, the Mayor and several newspaper men, made the first official trip yesterday across the new Mayo Bridge. A South Richmond man beat the municipal family to the honor more than a week ago, but yesterday's crossing was the first one of an official nature.

The trip was made in automobile over a roadway paved almost without break from one end of the 1,721-foot span to the other. The car tracks are already in place, and only isolated segments of paving keep the bridge unfinished.

Contractor I. J. Smith, at whose inspection the bridge was placed, told the board that the bridge will be ready for traffic in three weeks. He expected, he said, to begin the work of clearing away the debris.

HOLD UP NEGRO CHURCH

Reconsiders Ordinance for Building at Wallace and Ritchie Streets.

Upon motion of Councilman Haddon, the Council Committee on Ordinances last night voted to reconsider the vote by which it recommended for passage an ordinance granting permission for the erection of a negro church at Wallace and Ritchie Streets. Considerable opposition, it appears, has developed from the white citizens residing in the neighborhood. The colored settlement numbers about 300, and has asked for permission to build a frame church. Building Inspector Butler is opposed to granting a permit on the general ground that frame church buildings are not desirable.

Mr. Haddon tabled until the next regular meeting of the committee, the third Monday night in August, when citizens opposing the granting of the privilege will appear to state their case.

BITTER CONTEST IS THREATENED

Congress Thinks Postmaster-General Is Usurping Its Authority.

Concerted Opposition to Order Increasing Size of Packages Mailable.

Washington, July 22.—Concerted opposition has developed in Congress to Postmaster-General Burleson's order regarding parcel post rates and increasing the maximum size of packages to be handled in the service. The order was issued Sunday, to become effective August 15, and to-day the Senate Post-Office committee requested Mr. Burleson to appear before the committee next Thursday with an explanation of the authority for his action.

This was the first step in what promises to be a bitter contest. When the Postmaster-General has been heard, the committee is expected to undertake to have withdrawn before August 15 any authority he may claim Congress has given him to change rates and sizes. It was contended in committee that proposed changes would entail an enormous loss to the government, and some of the members complained strenuously of the Post-Office Department had failed to furnish Congress with data concerning operations of the parcel post.

Apparently there was no difference of opinion in the committee as to whether the Postmaster-General should change the rates, Democrats and Republicans agreeing that only Congress ought to have this power.

The controversy has aroused extraordinary interest in the Capitol and in official circles, since the parcel post touches more or less directly nearly everybody in the country. Those who are supporting the Postmaster-General insist that the only loss imminent under the proposed changes would be to the express companies, which now carry the profit-making, large size packages, while the government transports the unprofitable small ones.

Although members of the committee contend it is a mere ungrammatical jumble of words without sense or power.

The Perfect Baby Of The Future

A Simple Method That Has a Wonderful Influence upon The Future Infant.

Too much cannot be said for a wonderful remedy, familiar to many women as Mother's Friend.

It is more eloquent in its action than all the health rules ever laid down for the guidance of expectant mothers. It is an external application that spreads its influence upon all the cord muscles, ligaments and tendons that nature calls into play; they expand without pain, without strain.

Mother's Friend must, therefore, be considered as a direct influence upon the character and disposition of the future generation. It is a conceded fact that, with nausea, pain, nervousness and dread banished, there is stored up such an abundance of healthy energy as to bring into being the highest ideals of those who fondly theorize on the rules that insure the coming of the perfect baby.

Mother's Friend can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. It is prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 239 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write them for an instructive book to expectant mothers.

er, department officials say the Postmaster-General is given ample authority for his order by the following section of the parcel post law:

"The classification of articles mailable, as well as the weight limit, the rates of postage, zone or zones and other conditions of mailability, under this act, if the Postmaster-General shall find by his experience that they or any of them are such as to prevent the shipment of articles desirable, or so permanently render the cost of the service greater than the receipts of the revenue therefrom, he is hereby authorized, subject to the consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to reform, from time to time, such classification, weight, limit, rates, zone or zones or conditions, or either, in order to promote the service to the public or to insure the receipt of revenue from such service in order to pay the cost thereof."

This language was put into the bill in conference at the close of Congress. Enactment of the bill was delayed by the Senate, which passed it on April 15 last, introduced a bill to repeal the clause in question, which is pending.

Some members of the committee point to the creation of a territorial division to inquire into the subject of a general parcel post, not only as evidence Congress intends the rates should stand not only while the committee is at work, but Congress has given it only the power to change the rates and sizes.

ALLOWS OLD CLAIM

Council Committee Votes to Reimburse Moore Bros. for Damage Done.

The Council Committee on claims voted yesterday afternoon, after half an hour of spirited debate, to recommend the payment of $20 to each of the Moore brothers, according to their property as the result of grading done by the city in 1905.

The claim was bitterly opposed by Alderman Paul, who saw in its approval the enactment of a precedent under which a claimant without number will arise to press old claims against the city. Regardless of the fact that the Moore brothers had the claim of the Moore heirs was barred by the statute of limitations.

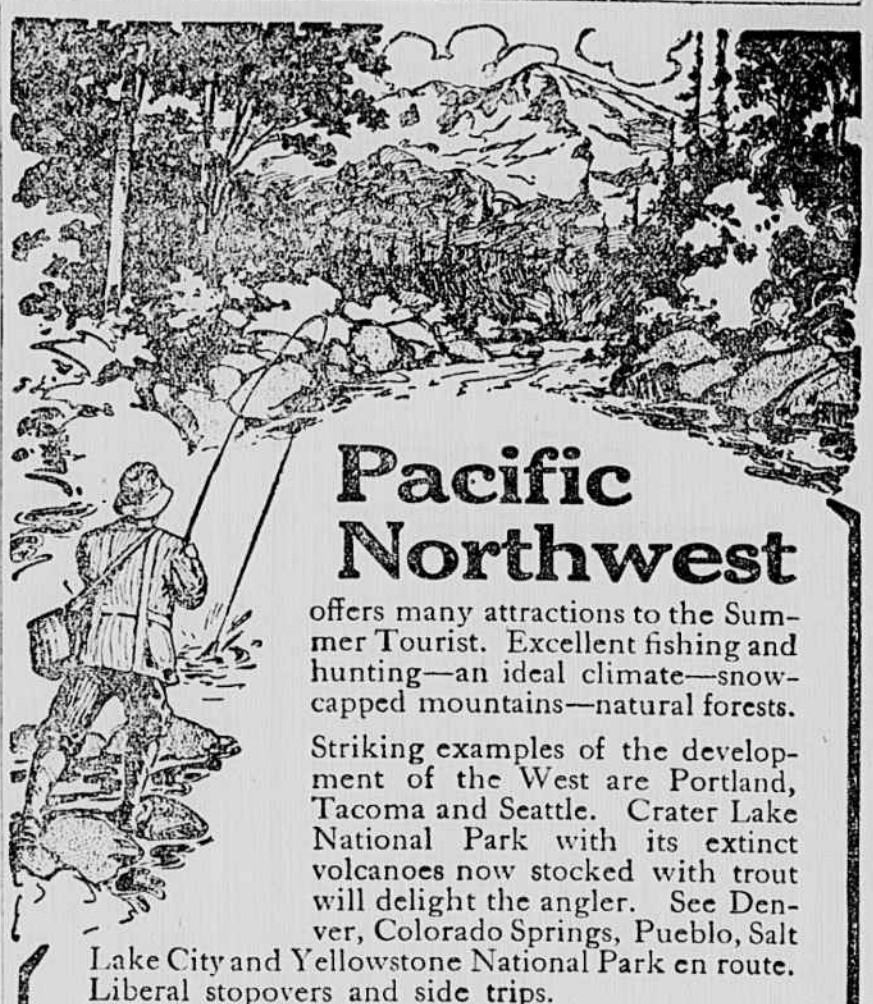

Alderman Underhill admitted the invalidity of the claim under the strict construction of the law, but held that the Council was morally bound to pay for the damage the city had caused, even if the claimant failed to come within the statute of limitations. The committee voted four to three to recommend the claim.

RECORD TRIP IS MADE IN HYDRO-AEROPLANE

Lieutenants Smith and Cavalier Make Quick Flight From Annapolis to Old Point.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Newport News, Va., July 22.—Traveling in a Curtis hydro-aeroplane, Lieutenants Smith and Cavalier, of the United States Aviation School, established a record run from Annapolis, Md., to Fort Monroe, this morning, making the trip of 140 miles in four hours and a half, or actual flying time of two hours and ten minutes.

With the ease of a bird and at a distance of fully 500 feet in the air, the hydro-aeroplane swept down upon Old Point shortly after 11:30 o'clock, and the officers made a beautiful landing on the beach just in front of the old Hygeia Hotel site. People in the neighborhood of Foxhill and Buckner beach sighted the machine and telephoned Fort Monroe of the approach of the officers.

According to the two aviators, they left Annapolis at 7 o'clock, and merely came down to Fort Monroe to have luncheon with their friends, Lieutenant and Mrs. Gug E. Mix.

Lieutenant Smith is a naval officer, while Lieutenant Cavalier is an officer of the Marine Corps. Both have been students in the naval aviation school at Annapolis, and each of them is considered an expert in handling the aeroplane. The officers declared that the trip from Annapolis to Old Point was a delightful one, and was without incident, except for the speed made by the machine.

When the officers started back to Annapolis this afternoon their hydro-aeroplane was partially wrecked by the heavy seas in Hampton Roads, and a launch had to be sent out from Fort Monroe to tow the machine back to Old Point. It is not badly damaged, and the young aviators say they will be able to resume the trip to-morrow.

Hanging Many Snipes at Camp.
Good timing and skillful hunting are the two prevailing amusements at Camp Pearce, where twelve Southside youngsters are spending the week on the banks of Falling Creek, in Chesterfield County. The smaller lads are getting to be experts in capturing the elusive little night bird, which is shared in a bag after it has been lured to the opening by the flickering light of a candle. The older and more experienced boys act as beaters. George Netherwood and Mark Lutz proved the heroes of the first hunt, the latter nearly succeeding in catching a snipe, and the first was spoiled by the spilling of the salt.

Several goats have been found by the boys grazing on the hills on an adjoining farm, and the animals are being trained for riding purposes. In addition to the cowboy and hunting stunts, the youngsters are having a royal time in the waters of the creek. Roy J. Lewis Gibbs has charge of the boys.

Property Transfer Recorded.
A deed of bargain and sale was recorded yesterday in Hastings Court, Part II, whereby Alexander W. Holmes transferred to Spencer W. Johnson and J. Walter Harris, thirty feet of prop-
